Service Highlight

Facilities Information Solutions

Streamlining work and improving service.

Imagine finally having the capability to map, measure and manage your facility from all angles: space utilization, occupancy monitoring, density improvements, space inventory and more. Now, imagine having all that information accessible to you in a single source and updated in real-time so you can make informed portfolio decisions. And if you run into issues along the way, have questions or need an extra hand? We're here for that, too.

Evaluation and implementation.

Whether it's finding ways to better utilize your current system or discovering what's possible with a new one, we can help you enhance your Integrated Workplace Management System (IWMS) capabilities to produce higher quality and more meaningful data.

We consult, implement and configure an array of process and software options catered to your unique facility management needs, budget and goals.

On-call and on-site support.

We're all about efficiency. That's why we offer an on-call support service to help when you need it most. Our extensive knowledge of multiple technical softwares allows us to respond and resolve quickly to get you up and running, so you can focus on the results.

Whether managing an influx of work or resolving software technicalities, i_SPACE's support team is available and ready to assist.

The value of a business partner.

When being “good enough” at managing your IWMS just isn’t enough, there’s a business partner like RSP i_SPACE.

Think of a time you hired a subject-matter professional to help inform your decisions (even if you could have figured it out on your own). Maybe it was a real estate agent or a financial advisor. These experts help you navigate uncertainties, avoid pitfalls and discover options. Better yet, their expertise saves you time and money.

This is the value we bring to facility information solutions. As a business partner, we are not exclusive to any one software solution or process — meaning every recommendation we give is rooted solely in your best interest. We leverage years of experience with long-term clients, and share our resulting best practices with you. The efficiency, value and trusted results we provide make all the difference.
